

Terms of Use

Amato Pharmaceutical Products, Ltd. (Amato) has prepared, operates, and administers this website. Before using this site, please read the following conditions carefully and use it with an understanding of these conditions.

The text, photographs, illustrations, and other contents of this website are protected under the Copyright Act and the Trademark Act. Copying and downloading of these contents are forbidden except for legally permissible use, including non-commercial usage by individuals.

The objective of this website is to provide general information on Amato products and other topics. It is not intended to provide advice or services that should be provided by doctors, pharmacists, and other medical professionals. The information on this website related to Amato products is not intended to be a substitute for the advice provided by doctors, pharmacists, and other medical professionals.

Amato has exercised due caution about information provided on this website. However, Amato makes no guarantees regarding the accuracy, completeness, or reliability of this information and takes no responsibility for errors, the dangers of contagion by computer viruses, or other related circumstances. Amato accepts no responsibility whatsoever for any losses or damages that may arise from the usage of the contents of this site.

Amato has no responsibility in relation to the websites of third parties which may contain links to the Amato website or links from the Amato website to sites of third parties. Moreover, when websites of third parties are used, please follow the conditions for the usage of those websites. When you wish to insert a link to the Amato website, please obtain Amato's permission in advance.

Amato may add, change, or remove information contained on this website without prior notice and may also interrupt or suspend the operation of this website without giving advance notice.